The well-known Clipper Male Quartette, composed of Messrs. McGrath, Kerns, Jacobs and Cherry, is now having frequent rehearsals, and has a large number of new and popular songs that have not yet been heard in Virginia.

It is a little way ahead yet, but should be mentioned right here. The Twentieth Century Italy of Home Missionary Societies of the Methodist Churches of Norfolk is booked for February 8th and Epworth Church has been secured. The address will be delivered by Rev. R. F. Beadles, of Central M. E. Church, Portsmouth, and the music is to be under the direction of Prof. J. Palmer Hayes, of Freemason Street Baptist Church.

The music will be made a special feature. It is understood, and among those who are likely to sing are a number of the most prominent vocalists of this section, as well as a fine chorus of church choir voices. Stick a tack in the date, February 8th, and watch for the news.

Orchestral music-lovers will do well to note that Hatcherford Kavanagh and Henry E. Roney, with their boys' concert company, will be at the Academy of Music Thursday night, and watch for announcements.

Messrs. J. W. Casey and George Norton have arrived home from New York, bringing with them their two latest songs, "Never," of which so much is expected, and "She's Sleeping Near the California Shore," which is spoken highly of by first hearers.

A concert will be given in the college hall of the Mary Washington College next Thursday evening under the direction of Mr. J. J. Miller. The programme will be rendered by members of the faculty, Miss Eleanor Ten Eyck Macy, Miss Alice J. Oliver, Miss Nina Seabury and Mr. J. J. Miller, assisted by the following orchestra: Mr. J. M. Huntington, first violin; Mr. R. Breake, second violin; Mr. A. T. Pfeiffer, viola; Mr. L. Sorensen, violoncello; Mr. S. LoCassio, clarinet.

Professor Miller will be assisted by Miss Ella Ten Eyck Macy, Miss Alice J. Oliver and Miss Seabury. He will also have the assistance of the following quartette: Messrs. J. M. Huntington, first violin; R. Breake, second violin; A. F. Prufer, viola; L. Sorensen, cello, and S. LoCassio, clarinet.

Miss Oliver will give a group of songs, with piano accompaniment, and in addition, two with orchestra. She is well known, greatly liked, and this promises a treat.

Miss Seabury, with Professor Miller, will furnish a duo for two pianos. Both are finished musicians and players.

A special feature will be a concert in I. major, for clarinet, with accompaniment of string quartette, the composition being new and from the hands of a new-to-Norfolk composer, Mr. L. Lorenzen, who is very highly spoken of already, and this fact will add to the interest of the evening.

Mr. J. E. Faber's studio, in the art building, on Granby street, is being fitted up in a style commensurate with the locality, and it is confidently claimed that when finished there will be

ART AND MUSIC.

Bronze Seal of Confederacy for Monument Arrives.

The big bronze shield for the southern base of the Confederate monument, in Monument Square, has arrived, and a private view was given the Art and Music reporter Friday at the office of the Couper Marble Works, through which firm the contract was awarded and the shield secured.

The shield is the reproduction on a vastly enlarged scale of the seal of the Southern Confederacy. The shield is thirty inches in diameter and two and one-half inches thick, weighing fully 200 pounds. It is a remarkably fine bas relief, considering the price paid, and will add greatly to the appearance of the monument.

Around a mounted continental commander is a wreath of corn and narcissus on the one hand, and cotton, rye and pampas grass on the other. Again encircling this is the legend, "The Confederate States of America, Deo Vincit" the whole surrounded by a heavy ornamental moulding. The date of erection and question of any ceremony connected therewith are still unsettled.

Those who were so fortunate as to hear Mrs. Sinnige sing at the Monticello last week will be sorry to know of her leaving the city, which she did with her sister, Mrs. Klein, Thursday, enroute to Louisville, Ky., where both have relatives high in social and financial circles. Mrs. Sinnige will return to her home in Alabama, visiting her mother in Texas on the way, and next summer will go to Europe, passing through Norfolk some time in May, when she will stop several days and has promised to sing here, greatly to the delight of the numerous friends and admirers she has made.

The Art League rooms, in Nushbaum's art building, on Granby street, are nearing completion, and promise to be worthy both the league and the city. The art-loving public has a treat in store when they are opened for public inspection.

Messrs. J. W. Casey and George Norton are in New York on business connected with this team of popular song composers' next year's work.

The Carbon Studio has been exhibiting this past week a very creditable group of photographs, the subject being the Seaboard Band in full uniform, with instruments, and despite the diffi-

Miss Lady Hobson, of Gloucester, is the guest of Mrs. R. H. Wright, on College Place.

Miss Marshall, of Raleigh, is visiting Mrs. J. W. S. Butt, in Portsmouth.

Miss Josephine Cooke is visiting friends in Fredericksburg.

Mr. Preston Brooke, Miss Catherine Brooke and Miss Carroll Brooke, of the University of the South, are the guests of Mrs. V. E. McBee, in Ghent.

Mr. and Mrs. Carey P. Weston left last week for a visit to Florida.

Miss Truce Haskell, of Orange, N. J., is visiting Mrs. William A. Thom, on Bute street.

Miss Fergus Barron, of Essex county, is visiting Mrs. John S. Green, on Bank street.

The weather being so bad yesterday the reception at the Country Club was quite small. Some few went down, however, and enjoyed themselves. The club has decided to increase its membership to 350. There has also been a bill adopted to admit the families of naval officers and non-residents for a year at $6.00. No initiation fee being required.

Miss C. W. B. Lane entertained a few friends at cards on Monday evening at her home, in Ghent, in honor of Miss Averill, of Rochester, N. Y.

Miss Katherine Watson entertained a party of friends in a most pleasing manner on Thursday evening at her home, at the navy yard. The occasion was a most delightful one. Mrs. Vinton won the ladies' first prize and Miss Florence Smith won the second. Paymaster Duet received the gentlemen's prize. A delectable repast was then partaken of, and greatly enjoyed. Among those present on this occasion were Capt. and Mrs. Wise, Capt. and Mrs. Niles, Civil Engineer and Mrs. Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. Hervey, Naval Constructor and Mrs. Stahl, Lieut. and Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Charles Vinton, Mrs. Church, Miss Isabelle Gilmer, of Chatham, Va.; Miss Violet Niles, Miss Florence Smith, Miss Thompson, Miss James, Miss Milligan, Lieut. Gilmer, Mr. Tyler Smith, Paymaster Duet, Paymaster Redfield, Dr. Guthrie, U. S. N., and Dr. Ames, U. S. N.

Little Miss Hilda Bateson entertained twenty-four of her young friends Friday evening at her home, on Bute street. Games and dancing were indulged in and those good things which children so dearly love were dispensed. The time passed all too quickly, so rapidly did the minutes fly in the merriment that prevailed, and the time for saying good night came too soon for the wishes of the little ones.

The Misses Allyn entertained a few of their friends in a charming manner Saturday evening at their home, on Bute street. Miss Belle Irvine, Miss Bessie Allyn, Lieutenant Gilmer, U. S. N., and Mr. George Moss had a very exciting game of whist, while in another parlor a game of seven-hand euchre went on. Those who took part in this were: Miss Gilmer, of Chatham; Miss Gordon, of Richmond; Miss Elizabeth Martin, Miss Emily Allyn, Mr. R. L. Doble, Mr. Aaron Milhadd and Mr. Winston Parrish. Miss Mabel Allyn kept the score. Miss Gilmer won a picture as the ladies' prize and Mr. Milhadd was also given a picture as the gentleman's award. A recherche repast was served at the end of the games, which was a delightful feature of the evening's program.

The hop at the navy-yard yesterday afternoon was quite a pleasant affair. A number of people danced to the inspiring music of the Naval Post Band and greatly enjoyed the afternoon.

Miss Rosa McBee returned last week after a delightful visit to friends in Augusta, Ga.

The Lady Managers of the Infant Sanitarium, at Virginia Beach, will give a Colonial Tea at the residence of Mrs. Everett St. John, 168 Freemason street, Thursday, January the 24th, from 5 until 11 p. m. The Seaboard Air Line Orchestra will render music during the evening and delicious refreshments will be served at a reasonable price. The public is cordially invited.

One of the prettiest children's parties that have ever taken place in Norfolk was that to which Miss Mary Townsend and Miss Edith Wake invited a number of their friends on Friday evening. The party took place at the home of Miss Townsend, on Dartmouth street, and was a most enjoyable occasion, being a masquerade dance. Mrs. Bunn Merritt played for the children to dance, which was a beautiful sight as they walked around in their fancy dress costumes. Later in the evening a donkey was tacked to the wall and the young people endeavored to attach the missing tail. Miss Helen Armstrong won the prize, a box of candy. Mr. Sterne Dodson won the booby, a clown. Each of the girls was given a Japanese ball, and the boys were presented with comic masks. Delightful refreshments were served during the evening, the table being beautifully spread and decorated with carnations and ferns. Snap-dragon kisses afforded much amusement. Those who were present at this delightful party were Misses Lillian Lundy, Geisha Gilmer, Emily Grubb, peasant girl; Louie Armstrong, Mother Goose; Helix Armstrong, queen of hearts; Mary McIntire, colonial damer; Ann White, gypsy tumbourine girl; La Luce, Nicholas, bell; Bessie Nusselt, flower girl; Edith Wake, folly; Elizabeth Townsend, snow; Mary Townsend, night; Messrs. Fitz Lee Hudgins, of Portsmouth, colonial gentleman; Harold Wrenn, Japanese; Charles Wrenn, Japanese; Earl Townsend, Virginian-Pilot; Eddie Waddy, dude; Laury Page, Yellow Kid; Stern Dodson, court justice; Frank Masi, Tom Seabell and Lewis Thompson, nineteenth century gentlemen.

The Misses Millar entertained a few friends Friday evening at their home, on Hamilton avenue, Ghent.

Mr. Casey B. Morgan entertained a small party of friends Friday night after the German at his home, in Ghent. Those who accepted Mr. Morgan's hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker Breese, Miss Maud Miller, of Baltimore; Miss Violet Niles, of the navy-yard; Mr. William Hopkins, Mr. A. M. Agelasto, Jr., and Mr. Washington Reed.

Mrs. Blackburn Hughes, of Charleston, S. C., is visiting Mrs. J. T. McNair, in Ghent.

Miss Fannie Pollard, of Forest Hill Park, Richmond, is the guest of Miss Marie Reid, on East Main street.

Mrs. John E. Burke gave a delightful euchre party to Miss Madeline Murphy, of Richmond, and merrily did the hours pass. Miss Murphy won the ladies' prize, Mr. S. V. Hennelly the gentleman's and Mr. J. Aubrey Butt the booby. Delectable refreshments were served on card tables.

Literary Note.

During the performance of "The Little Minister" last Tuesday Messrs. Nushbaum & Co. had on sale at the Academy of Music a very pretty souvenir, in the shape of a book containing illustrations and quotations from the scenes of the play. The illustrations show Maud Adams in the role of Lady Rabbie. Messrs. Nushbaum are still handling them at their store.

Miss Oliver will give a group of songs, with piano accompaniment, and in addition, two with orchestra. She is well known, greatly liked, and this promises a treat.

Miss Seabury, with Professor Miller, will furnish a duo for two pianos. Both are finished musicians and players.

A special feature will be a concert in I. major, for clarinet, with accompaniment of string quartette, the composition being new and from the hands of a new-to-Norfolk composer, Mr. L. Lorenzen, who is very highly spoken of already, and this fact will add to the interest of the evening.

Mr. J. E. Faber's studio, in the art building, on Granby street, is being fitted up in a style commensurate with the locality, and it is confidently claimed that when finished there will be few south of New York equal to it in attractions.

The well-known Clipper Male Quartette, composed of Messrs. McGrath, Kerns, Jacobs and Cherry, is now having frequent rehearsals, and has a large number of new and popular songs that have not yet been heard in Virginia.

It is a little way ahead yet, but should be mentioned right here. The Twentieth Century Italy of Home Missionary Societies of the Methodist Churches of Norfolk is booked for February 8th and Epworth Church has been secured. The address will be delivered by Rev. R. F. Beadles, of Central M. E. Church, Portsmouth, and the music is to be under the direction of Prof. J. Palmer Hayes, of Freemason Street Baptist Church.

The music will be made a special feature. It is understood, and among those who are likely to sing are a number of the most prominent vocalists of this section, as well as a fine chorus of church choir voices. Stick a tack in the date, February 8th, and watch for the news.

Orchestral music-lovers will do well to note that Hatcherford Kavanagh and Henry E. Roney, with their boys' concert company, will be at the Academy of Music Thursday night, and watch for announcements.

Messrs. J. W. Casey and George Norton have arrived home from New York, bringing with them their two latest songs, "Never," of which so much is expected, and "She's Sleeping Near the California Shore," which is spoken highly of by first hearers.

A concert will be given in the college hall of the Mary Washington College next Thursday evening under the direction of Mr. J. J. Miller. The programme will be rendered by members of the faculty, Miss Eleanor Ten Eyck Macy, Miss Alice J. Oliver, Miss Nina Seabury and Mr. J. J. Miller, assisted by the following orchestra: Mr. J. M. Huntington, first violin; Mr. R. Breake, second violin; Mr. A. T. Pfeiffer, viola; Mr. L. Sorensen, violoncello; Mr. S. LoCassio, clarinet.

Professor Miller will be assisted by Miss Ella Ten Eyck Macy, Miss Alice J. Oliver and Miss Seabury. He will also have the assistance of the following quartette: Messrs. J. M. Huntington, first violin; R. Breake, second violin; A. F. Prufer, viola; L. Sorensen, cello, and S. LoCassio, clarinet.
